Description

Bluebell is a charming 43ft traditional stern narrowboat, built in 2000 by the renowned G & J Reeves. She is a well-presented boat, thoughtfully designed to make the most of her size, offering a cosy and homely feel throughout. With her manageable length and traditional layout, Bluebell is ideal for those new to boating as well as seasoned boaters looking for a comfortable and characterful craft. Stepping inside from the stern, you'll find the bedroom, a welcoming and practical space featuring a fixed double bed with storage underneath. Two porthole windows allow natural light to filter in, while a wardrobe, storage cupboard, and reading light provide everything you need for comfort and convenience. Two radiators ensure the space stays warm and inviting, making it a snug retreat after a day's cruising. The bathroom follows, fitted with a Vacuflush pump-out toilet, a shower, sink, and useful storage cupboard. Compact yet practical, this space is neatly arranged and designed with functionality in mind, providing all the essentials for life on board. Moving forward, the galley is well-equipped and designed for easy living. It includes a Vanette oven and 4-burner gas hob, an Amica fridge/freezer, and plenty of worktop space for preparing meals. Storage cupboards and shelving ensure that everything has its place, while the laminate flooring makes the space easy to maintain. It's a bright and practical area that feels modern yet in keeping with the boat's traditional character. At the bow, the saloon is a warm and versatile living space. A sofa bed and chair offer plenty of seating, with a dropleaf table providing flexible dining options. Additional features include a bookcase, storage cupboards, TV, and radio, making this a space for both relaxation and entertainment. The side hatch on the starboard side brings in extra light and ventilation, while two radiators keep the saloon cosy. Finished with laminate flooring and a homely rug, the saloon is the heart of Bluebell, offering comfort and charm in equal measure. Overall, Bluebell is a delightful narrowboat that has been carefully maintained and thoughtfully laid out. Her combination of a manageable length, quality craftsmanship from G & J Reeves, and well-presented interior make her an ideal choice for those seeking a narrowboat that is both practical and full of character. Whether you're a first-time buyer or an experienced boater looking for a compact yet comfortable vessel, Bluebell is ready to welc...
