Description

Step aboard Celtic Traveller, a delightful traditional narrowboat that has been a much-loved home and companion for over 20 years. At 49ft 5", she offers the ideal size for someone new to boating — easy to handle yet spacious enough to enjoy a comfortable life on the water. Whether you're looking for a peaceful escape, a weekend retreat, or a new way of life, Celtic Traveller provides a wonderful opportunity to begin your journey.

Currently moored at the beautiful Caen Hill Marina in the Wiltshire countryside, Celtic Traveller is surrounded by stunning scenery and a welcoming boating community. Her charm lies not only in her setting but also in her character and warmth, ready to be passed on to her next custodian.

Inside, the galley is fully fitted with a cooker, sink, fridge, freezer, and plenty of storage, allowing you to prepare meals with ease. The spacious saloon is the heart of the boat, where a Morso Squirrel stove creates a cosy and inviting atmosphere — the perfect spot to relax with a book or enjoy evenings by the fire.

The bedroom currently features a single bed, but with a little imagination, it could easily be converted to a double, making the space more versatile. A generous double wardrobe provides ample storage for clothes and personal belongings. The bathroom is smart and practical, with a fully tiled shower cubicle, a vanity unit with wash basin, and a cassette toilet.

Her layout is thoughtfully designed, running stern to bow with the engine room leading into the bedroom, followed by the shower room, galley, and finally the welcoming saloon at the front. This flow makes living aboard simple, practical, and enjoyable.

While it must be noted that Celtic Traveller does not currently carry the required CE marking under Recreational Craft Regulations, any potential buyer should satisfy themselves as to the implications of this. We recommend seeking further advice should you wish.

Celtic Traveller represents more than just a boat — she's an invitation to embrace a new lifestyle on the waterways. With her charm, comfort, and history of long-term ownership, she's the perfect starter boat for anyone ready to begin their own adventure.
