🌀 Length 55ft

🌀 1980

Description

Lucy Locket is a 55ft traditional stern narrowboat dating from circa 1980 and offers a great opportunity for anyone looking for a small project boat or an affordable way to get started on the water. Full of traditional charm and character, she provides a solid base with a practical layout and plenty of potential for improvement and personalisation.

This boat is considered a project and will require some work, particularly to the bow area, bathroom, and certain electrical elements. The galley side hatch also needs refitting. The boat was last surveyed in 2019, and there are two gas cylinders located at the bow. For the right buyer, Lucy Locket represents a rewarding project with scope to add value over time.

The internal layout runs from stern to bow as follows: engine bay, bedroom, bathroom, galley, lounge/dinette, and bow, offering a traditional and logical flow through the boat.

The lounge/dinette is a large, open-plan living space and forms the heart of the boat. It is fitted with a multi-fuel stove, creating a warm and cosy atmosphere, and benefits from two 12v sockets and one 240v socket. This flexible space can be arranged for seating and occasional guest accommodation, giving Lucy Locket a total of 3 berths.

The galley is compact and functional, equipped with a 2-ring gas hob and a 12v fridge. A side hatch provides light and ventilation, although this requires refitting and offers an opportunity for upgrading as part of the project.

The walk-through bathroom includes a vanity sink, cassette toilet, and a hip bath with overhead shower. While serviceable, the bathroom would benefit from refurbishment, allowing a new owner to modernise the space.

The bedroom features a fitted double bed with drawers below, a hanging rail, and overhead shelving, along with porthole windows on either side, providing storage, character, and a cosy sleeping area.

Overall, Lucy Locket is a traditional narrowboat with plenty of charm and potential, ideally suited to a hands-on buyer looking for a starter boat or light renovation project. With some care and attention, she offers the opportunity to create a comfortable and characterful home on the water.
